3. If the purchaser fails to make payment of any amount due, on the due date, then the purchaser acknowledges that the seller will be entitled to charge interest on all overdue amounts at its sole and absolute discretion and to vary the rate of interest without notice to the purchaser.

5. The seller shall, at its sole discretion at any time without prior notice to the purchaser, be entitled to reduce the credit limit initially imposed on the facilities extended to the purchaser.
6. The purchaser hereby agrees that a signed acceptance of delivery together with a certificate signed by a director of the seller reflecting the balance then owing on account, shall be prima facie evidence of the amount owing for purposes of any action by the seller for payment of such balance and will constitute an acknowledgement of the debt by the purchaser in favour of the seller for the sum reflected in such certificate entitling the seller to claim provisional sentence or to obtain summary judgement against the purchaser, as if the document were a liquid document signed by the purchaser.
7. Should any payment due by the purchaser to the seller not be made on due date or should the purchaser be placed in compulsory or voluntary liquidation, compulsory or voluntary judicial management or attempt to effect a compromise with one or more of its creditors or commit any act of insolvency, the full balance owing to the seller by the purchaser as at the date thereof, from whatsoever cause arising, shall immediately become due and payable without notice by the seller. 9.
